The Other COVID-19 Story: The Unknown Essential Services; Custodial Services

The constant news about COVID-19 have been depressing, with vignettes of many stories of heroes in our healthcare, first responders, teachers, and many other our public servants. What is rarely heard is the story of those that are behind the scenes, our custodial services workers, the demand they have burden, the unknown the inherited, and the misinformation they have hear. In many parts of our country custodial operations are predominantly staffed by a Hispanics workforce, most of them immigrants with a language barrier, and know they are part of our country's frontline fighting the spread of COVID-19.
